KILLED!

State Senator, William Goebel,
Kills John L. Sandford at Covington.

Both Men Prominent in Business and Political Circles.

A HORRIBLE AND BRUTAL AFFAIR

State Senator, William Goebel, shot and killed John L. Sandford, Cashier of the Traders & Drivers National Bank of Covington, on Thursday, Tuesday, April 12, at Covington, Ky. The tragedy grew out of the miserable factional fight that has been going on for some time in the ranks of the Democracy of Kenton and Campbell counties. The two men were the recognized leaders of opposing factions and the feeling between them was intense. Some days ago Goebel published an article in the Covington Ledger, which reflected on Sandford. Wednesday, Attorney General, W. J. Hendrick, and Mr. Frank Helm with Mr.

Goebel were passing down the streets of Covington, when they halted in front of the First National Bank to greet Sandford who stood on the steps. Immediately after speaking to Helm and Hendrick, Sandford turned to Goebel and said, "I understand you are the author of that article." Goebel replied, "I am." Sandford began drawing his pistol and exclaimed, "Take that!" Goebel pulled his gun and both fired. The ball from Sandford's pistol passed through the waistband of Goebel's pants, while the ball from Goebel's pistol struck Sandford between the eyes, making a wound from which he died in a few hours. Goebel surrendered himself to the authorities.

Court Day.

There was a large crowd in town yesterday, but business among our merchants was only fair. There were some 1500 hundred cattle on the market. For sales see our Court Day report of sales. Plenty of plug and common work horses on the street. Poor plugs sold from $5 to $25. Common work horses sold from $25 to $50. A number of common work mules were of a class that did not suit the purchasers. A few sold from $30 to $60 per head.

Mr. John P. Martin was in the city last week looking after his interests, water and electric light plants, and returned to Xenia, Ohio, Saturday. He will be in the East this week closing up some deals. He assured us that the new electric plant would be in operation in thirty days and the water plant in one hundred and twenty days. Mr. Martin is busy with things. He will permanently locate here.

Mr. Thos. Combs, of the firm of A. Combs & Son, of Corwells, passed through the city Saturday from Cincinnati, where he had been to lay in an additional stock of merchandise for their large store. Mr. Combs was in the East a few weeks ago, and his frequent visits to the markets is evidence of the large business the firm is enjoying.

ONE DAY

GIVEN CHINA TO DECIDE

The Terms Are Very Hard, But She'll Accept.

Such is the Belief of the Authorities at Washington.

A Central News dispatch from Shanghai says:

"A telegram from Peking says that Japan has presented her ultimatum, giving China one day in which to accept or refuse it. Japan has reduced the sum demanded for indemnity to 1,000,000 yen. The Government is divided as to the acceptance of the Japanese proposals. The peace party is willing to accept the terms, but the Honan party is holding out. The position is critical."

It is understood that China has informed Russia that she will not accept Japan's terms, and looks to the European powers to save her.

An Easter Service.

The Christian church Sunday-school in lieu of the usual lesson on Sunday held a delightfully beautiful Easter service. It was one of the prettiest exercises of its kind that has ever been our good fortune to attend. Among other beautiful things we must mention a recitative exercise by four beautiful little girls, "What do the Daisies Say," and another by four little golden-haired, fair-faced beauties. "The Lilies," was so sweet that our almost involuntarily exclaimed, "truly, of such is the Kingdom of Heaven." The music was excellent, and all in all the service was one that will long be a green spot in the memory not only of the children, but of the gray-haired boys and girls as well, who spent the hour with them.

In a letter received yesterday from Deputy U. S. Collector, M. O. Cockrell bearing date of April 13th, he says the report that Deputy U. S. Marshall, Mannin, had accidentally received, is a mistake. He says Mannin is improving and will get well.

The Courier-Journal says: It is possible that the famous Lexington Fair may be omitted from the list of 1895 events in Kentucky. The company lost money last year and is said to contemplate declaring the fair off for this year.

Insanity will be the plea in the case of an Oregon Baptist preacher who was caught robbing a bank.

Dismissed.

The Court of Appeals has dismissed the suit taken up from Montgomery county to oust the Columbia Finance and Trust Company from the trusteeship of the New Farmers' Bank. The suit was dismissed at the instance of Secretary of State Hendley, in whose name it was brought. There is now so far as we know, no way of making the Trustees show its hand in the settlement of the large interests entrusted to it. We think it exceedingly unfortunate that this suit could not have been pushed to a decision.

Mr. G. H. Kelsey died at the residence of his daughter, Mrs. C. Stumpp, on East Main street, this city, yesterday morning at 8 o'clock of consumption. Funeral service at residence today, conducted by Rev. C. J. Nugent, after which the remains will be sent to Easton, Ky., for burial.

The ladies of the Southern Presbyterian church will give a Birthday Party, to which the community will be formally invited at the proper time.

Cut With a Razor.

Mark Owens and John Coleman, both negroes, became involved in a difficulty over a game of craps in that disreputable hole, Rat Alley, on Sunday night. The Owens darkey made an assault on Coleman, who struck him over the head with an iron poker, when Owens stepped back and whipped out his razor and cut Coleman once in the arm, severing the biceps muscle, and gave him a second swipe across the abdomen, dismembering him. Coleman managed to make his way to R. C. Lloyd's drug store, where his wounds were dressed by Drs. W. R. Thompson, Chas. B. Duerson and Thornley. The wounds are not necessarily fatal and he may recover. Owens was arrested and sent to jail in default of bail.

A large number of colonists from the Northwest are arranging for the purchase of 100,000 acres of land in Montgomery county, Ga.

Hon. W. S. Robert is confined to his bed with rheumatism at his home on North Sycamore street.

Circuit Court.

In the Circuit Court during the past week a number of cases of minor importance have been disposed of. When the cases of Roach and Fortman, charged with being members of the mob that hung Tom Blair were called an election for special judge, resulted in the selection of Judge H. F. Day. Later Judge Day was taken sick and declined to act. Then the attorneys agreed upon Col. Leland Hathaway, of Winchester, to try the cases. He at first accepted, but later also declined to sit. Yesterday Hon. W. A. Delhaven, of this bar, was selected and this morning the cases will be called for trial.

Hon. James H. Evans, Master Commissioner of Clark Circuit Court, sold Monday at the Court House steps 55 acres of land adjoining the farms of N. B. Young and Van Thompson to J. W. Clay and Mrs. Lucy Wilson for $21.50 per acre.

We now have a nice full stock and at prices to suit the hard times.

Hitherto the doctrine has been that foreigners can obtain no relief from the French courts, but in the case of a German who had long lived in France, but who was not naturalized, the court held that a bona fide resident was entitled to the benefit of the laws. No limit was assigned to the length of residence required.

Value of Fruit.

Fruit is not valued for food as it should be. The common notion that it is too watery to be of great value, except as a relish. The grains, that are nearly free from water, are depended upon for nutrition. The chemists tell us that most kinds of fruit average 83 per cent. water and only 17 per cent. of dry matter. How, it may be asked, can men live on food with so little substance as this? But milk has 87 per cent. of water and is nearly a complete food. It is much more a complete food than whole dry grain would be. Neither flour or meal can be well used unless cooked. For this water is added. Then, in eating bread and puddings, or whatever else is made from flour and meal, more water is drank. If it isn't the food constipates and does not digest properly. One way or another the human system requires a large percentage of water, as, indeed, it is itself largely composed of water. Fruit has a considerable proportion of sweet. This is as nutritious as starch, and more easily digested. When starchy foods are eaten they are changed to sugar by the gastric juices. So far, therefore, the sugar of fruits is already partly digested.

The State Board of Equalization has raised the assessment for Montgomery county, on lands 7 per cent. and on towns lots 2 per cent.

POLITENESS

In One Country, But Viewed Very Differently in Others.

"Give me a light, will you please?" asked one man of another in a theatre lobby a few evenings ago.

"With pleasure," said No. 2 knocking the ash from his cigar before presenting it to the friend.

"Thanks," said No. 1, returning the cigar after lighting his cigarette. "It was kind of you to knock the ash off for me, but let me advise you never to do it if you happen to be in the West Indies. They look on that as a deadly insult down there. The Cuban or Jamaican will hand you his cigar with the ash on, and you must stomp it for yourself."

"That reminds me of another curious custom that I came across on the west coast. I was in Lima and my friend took me one night to one of the theaters where they sit around after the theater and drink light wines. There were women in the party, and it fell to me after a time to fill a glass for one of them.

"I was sitting back comfortably in my chair smoking, and without minding my position I carelessly tipped the bottle backward, so as to pour the wine backward.

"Instantly my fair companion flushed deeply, and there was a moment's awkward pause in the conversation. Afterward my Peruvian friend told me that to pour wine for a lady in that fashion was to distinctly 'kick her.'"

Shouldn't I have Waited.

The dispenser of the finest brands of Western Justice sat on a soap box with a law book spread before him on an up-turned whiskey barrel.

"Who arrested this man?" he asked as the prisoner stood up before him.

"We did," responded half a dozen citizens standing around.

"What's the charge?"

"Hoss stealing."

"Kin you prove it?" he asked.

"You better life we kin; we ketch-ed him in the act."

The Judge looked up and said: "Will you swear to it?" he asked.

"Course we will. Didn't we jist tell you we ketch-ed him at it?"

All right, gent's," said the Judge, bandily as he laid his gun across the law book. "I'll fine each and every one of you $10 and costs for contempt of court in ketchin' him prisoner, and dismis the case agin' the prisoner. You oughter strung him up when you ketch-ed him."

Was Hypnotized.

Police Judge—You are charged with being drunk. What have you got to say for yourself?

Prisoner—"Your honor, I was hypnotized by several men. They asked me to take a drink and I couldn't refuse."

Police Judge—"I will do a little hypnotizing myself. Please adjourn in jail for twenty days. See if you can refuse that."—Peck's Sun.

IN THE NECK.

The Income Tax Law Hard Hit by the Supreme Court.

The Justices Divided on Several Material Sections.

A DIVIDED COURT.

The Supreme Court, through Chief Justice Fuller, handed down a decision on the Income Tax Law on Monday last. The Court holds the income tax law to be void as to incomes derived from the rentals of real estate and from State, county and municipal bonds, and valid as to incomes from other sources. As to incomes derived from bonds, the court was unanimous. As to incomes derived from rent, Justices Harlan and White dissented. On all other points the court was evenly divided. Justice Jackson being absent and the law, therefore, stands to these points. The Justices who voted to sustain all parts of the law were Fuller, Harlan and White and perhaps Justice Brown.

GIST OF THE OPINION.

First—That by the Constitution Federal taxation is divided into two great classes: Direct taxes and duties, imposts and excises.

Second—The imposition of direct taxes is governed by the rule of apportionment among the several States according to numbers, and the imposition of duties, imposts and excises by the rule of uniformity throughout the United States.

Third—That the principle that taxation and representation go together was intended to be and was preserved in the Constitution by the establishment of the rule of apportionment among the several States, so that such apportionment should be according to numbers in each State.

Fourth—That the States surrendered their power to levy imposts and to regulate commerce to the general Government, and gave it the concurrent power to levy direct taxes in reliance on the protection afforded by the laws prescribed, and that the compromises of the Constitution can not be disturbed by legislative action.

Fifth—That these conclusions result from the text of the Constitution and are supported by the historical evidence furnished by the circumstances surrounding the framing and adoption of that instrument, and the views of those who framed and adopted it.

Sixth—That the understanding and expectation at the time of the adoption of the Constitution was that direct taxes would not be levied upon the general Government except under the pressure of extraordinary exigency and such has been the practice down to August 15, 1894. If the power to do so is to be exercised as an ordinary and unadvisable supply, that the fact furnishes an additional reason for circumspection in disposing of the present case.

Seventh—That taxes on real estate belong to the class of direct taxes, and that the taxes on the rent or income of real estate, which is the incident of its ownership, belong to the same class.

Eighth—That by no previous decision of this court has this question been adjudicated to the contrary of the conclusions now announced.

Ninth—That so much of the act of August 15, 1894, as attempts to impose a tax upon the rent or income of real estate without apportionment is invalid.

The court is further of the opinion that the act of August 15, 1894, is invalid so far as it attempts to levy a tax upon the income derived from municipal bonds. As a municipal corporation is the representative of the State Government, the property and revenues of municipal corporations are not the subject of Federal taxation nor is the income derived from State, county and municipal securities, since taxation on the interest therefrom operates on the power to borrow before it is exercised and has a sensible influence on the contract, and therefore such a tax is a tax on power of the States and their instrumentalities to borrow money and consequently repugnant to the Constitution.

Upon each of the other petitions argued at the bar, to-wit: First—Whether the void provisions as to rents and incomes from real estate invalidate the whole act; Second—Whether as to the income from personal property as such the act is unconstitutional as laying direct taxes;

Third—Whether any part of the tax if not considered as a direct tax, is invalid for want of uniformity; the Justices who heard the arguments are equally divided, and therefore, no opinion is expressed. The result is that the decree of the Circuit Court is reversed and the case remanded with directions to enter a decree in favor of complainant in respect only to the voluntary payment of the tax on the rents and income of its real estate and that which it holds in trust, and on the income from the municipal bonds owned or so held by it.

The effect of all the opinions delivered is to show that the court was unanimous in the opinion that the law is unconstitutional as to municipal and State bonds; that Chief Justice Fuller and Justices Field, Gray, Brewer, Brown and Shiras held it to be valid on incomes derived from rents, and that Justices Harlan and White dissented from this opinion as to rents. It is impossible to state the exact division as to the validity of the other parts of the law further than was disclosed by the proceedings. It appears quite clear that Chief Justice Fuller and Justices Harlan and White voted to sustain the other parts of the law, and the best opinion obtainable is that Justice Brown stood with them in this opinion, which would leave Justices Field, Gray, Brewer and Shiras as the opponents of the law as a whole.

BEAUTY

Turned to a Practical Account By Two Women.

The young men about town have two new stories to which they are repeating each other.

One is about a pretty cashier and the other is about a pretty woman who is frequently seen among the shoppers on Whitehall street. One merit of the stories is that they are strictly true.

"It's this way," said a young man yesterday, "the women are so comfoundedly pretty that they hypnotize the men. The pretty cashier always gives back the right change except when the customer happens to be the sort of man who imagines himself a lady-killer; then she tosses it down about a dollar short. She gives him a smile with his short change that is worth fully $4. The man smiles, and though he would be surprised and ashamed that she never mind him, she sizes up the man right every time, and not once in a hundred times do the men say a word. They are reckless to death at having the young lady smile on them so sweetly, and had rather give up the whole amount than make a kick.

"The other woman is a professional shopper, and she's a stunner in looks. She goes into a store and calls something—she never buys a costly thing. The clerk brings out what she calls for and displays it on the counter. She examines it and throws in bright remarks and makes eyes at the clerk—in a short, she gives the young fellow to understand that she is dreadfully smitten on him. He feels like hugging himself. The lady buys the article, of course, and lingers a few minutes to talk with the clerk after it is wrapped up. Her smiles and her eyes completely hypnotize him, and after a short time she walks out in an absent-minded way, having forgotten to pay for her purchase. Of course the clerk never says a word. He just makes out a ticket and has it charged up to himself. This lady never makes a mistake. If she should happen to strike a clerk some day who was not susceptible to maehs, why, she'd simply look embarrassed and say: "How funny! Excuse my mistake—think of me forgetting to pay you. I am so absent-minded." But the clerks never give her an opportunity to say that.—Atlanta Constitution.

Carefulness in Little Things. "I think it's all right for the bank president with a salary of $40,000 a year to spend half a day looking for a lost pocket," said Mr. Billings. "It wouldn't do for a man in his place to do the bad example of being careless about little things, but when Mr. Billings spoils a two-dollar pair of gloves trying to pick up a penny it always kind of irritates me."

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

For Railroad Commissioner.

We are authorized to announce John C. Wood as a candidate for Railroad Commissioner, for the Eastern District of Kentucky, subject to the action of the Republican party.

For Representative.

I am a candidate for the office of Representative of the counties of Montgomery and Mercer, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

N. F. FIERCE.

For Superintendent of Public Instruction.

I am candidate for the nomination for Superintendent of Public Instruction, subject to the action of the Democratic Convention.

C. W. FOWLER.

His Platform.

Foundation---First course: The freedom of a Republic depends upon the general intelligence of its citizens. Second course: This general intelligence can be obtained in no other way than through the public school. Third course: It is the duty of the State to establish and maintain an efficient system of free public schools. Superintendence---First plank: Longer term; gradual increase until every child has the advantages of a common school. Second plank: Better teachers; secured (a) by more State normal schools; (b) by a summer school for Tusculum Conductors; and the certifying thereof; (c) in cities of the first four classes, Principals shall hold 25 certificates, and Superintendents 10 State diplomas. Third plank: Better and compulsory grading. Fourth plank: Better and cheaper school books. Fifth plank: Opposition to school supply trusts of every description. Sixth plank: The "separation" of all political parties from the duty of school officials of every class. (I nominated I shall shape my work in accordance with the above principles.

C. W. FOWLER.

We have the profoundest respect for the honest opinions of all men, but we have no patience with loud-mouthed arrogance which carries with it the vain expression of "I thank God that I am not as other men are." Such school officials pity from true men. We love truth to that degree that we have nothing but contempt for the counterfeiter and pity for the poor, miserable counterfeiter. We are not native born Montgomery citizens, but when we made this county our home we became identified with all interests of her people.

President Cleveland will promptly pay his income tax. In his "return" to the department he denominated himself as a "citizen at large."

It is a hard necessity that forces a man to antagonize those in authority. We find ourselves in this position and freely acknowledge it is not to our liking. We have rather roughly criticised our Circuit Judge. We are sorry he has made it necessary for us to do so. What he has said and done stands. What we have written is equally inexcusable. But whatever may be our justification for what we wrote in criticism of him, (and we believe as do nearly all the better element of the county that we are amply justified in our course,) yet it is none the less dangerous for a newspaper to antagonize a court of justice, let the provocation be ever so great, for the lawless element will at once assume that such paper with whatever influence it may have is backing up antagonism to constituted authority. A Judge upon the bench has the right to expect that all those claiming to be good men and true, will give him their support and encouragement in the difficult, and often times perplexing, situation in which he is placed in the discharge of his duty. The good men and true of the community have the right to demand of the Judge upon the bench that he will so keep himself free of all entanglements as to stand at all times before them with clean hands and stainless integrity. The Judge who fills these conditions and lacks the support of the good and the true has yet to be born.

When Judge Cooper came to Montgomery county to make it his home there was not a man in the district who would have had the ghost of a chance to carry the county against him. The best men in the county freely gave him their confidence and esteem. To-day we do not believe he could be elected Constable in one of the outlying districts. Why this change? Whose fault? Either this great number of good men have changed for the bad or they believe one man has. Which is the more reasonable position?

Let us Have Peace.

Factional politics seems to hold wrapped in its folds more malignant bitterness and brutal hatred than almost any other phase of contention. The Goebel-Sanford killing at Covington is an object lesson to be carefully couched by some in our own county. It would be no bad thing for some of those engaged in the miserable factional fights here, to call a halt in the pure senselessness that is driving straight toward a repetition of the Swopes-Goodloe or Goebel-Sanford tragedies. In this last exhibition of brutalized hate one of the actors lies cold in death, and the survivor has committed a crime, if not a murder.

Whenever any one, be he whom he may, come from where he will, attacks and as we believe, misrepresents our country and our people, the Advocate shall feel called upon to defend those with whom its interest is identified. It shall do this, too, without regard to whose wrath it may invoke. The Two Times in Four Weeks, under the lash of its boss, the Judge, springs to his defense with an attack on the Advocate. Excuse us, all the advertising space we have to spare is being paid for.

suicide, and has forever murdered all his own peace and happiness, and to-day if choice could be given, he would be as willing to fill his victim's shoes as his own.

It seldom happens that a quarrel exists where all the fault is on one side. But whether in the fight in this county this be so or no, much more can be accomplished by forbearance and toleration than by vituperation and ready retaliation for real or fancied injuries. It is not patriotic. It is not honorable. It is not honest for men claiming to be Democrats to slink party success in a mad desire to gain a personal advantage. Such a course can only end in party disaster and personal degradation and dishonor if not worse. Let us have peace.

Too, Utterly Too Too!

In his charge to the grand jury on Monday last, Judge Cooper took occasion to remark, among other nice things he had to say of himself, he had never in all his life been guilty of one thing of which he is ashamed. What a comfortable feeling that must be. But then how lonesome he must feel after all we suppose he is the only man in all the world who can truthfully say so much. Certainly he is the only one with whom we are acquainted, or of whom we have ever heard, that can present to himself such a nosegay. The Judge's self-gratulatory speech reminds us of the preacher who met Judge Wm. Lindsay about the time the papers of the country were full of the exposures of the Tweed Ring rottenness. He was a man of pure heart and trusting disposition and as free from guile as is Judge Cooper. The good man exclaimed: "Judge Lindsay, it surely is not possible that these terrible charges against Tweed and his party are true? Are they not all Democrats?"

"My very reverend friend," said the Judge, "I fear you are too good a man to live in this world. I once was a Whig, but now am a Democrat, and I grieve to say that from long observation I have become convinced that it is within the range of possibility for a Democrat to do wrong."

Whenever any one, be he whom he may, come from where he will, attacks and as we believe, misrepresents our country and our people, the Advocate shall feel called upon to defend those with whom its interest is identified. It shall do this, too, without regard to whose wrath it may invoke. The Two Times in Four Weeks, under the lash of its boss, the Judge, springs to his defense with an attack on the Advocate. Excuse us, all the advertising space we have to spare is being paid for.

Rapid Progress.

Although it is only about thirty days since John P. Martin began to break ground for our new modern Water Works and Electric Lighting plant, he already has the former building changed and remodeled to be used to the best possible advantage in connection with another equally large brick addition, which is being roofed in now for the big 250 horsepower Lane & Bralley Corlies engine and the electrical apparatus room, while one of the large apartments of the former building will be used for the pumping machinery.

The other and next to the railroad track has been filled up almost solid with heavy rock masonry to support the two fine 150 horsepower boilers, both of which attracted everyone's attention upon their arrival here from Pennsylvania Saturday morning, as being the largest ever seen in these parts. Mr. Martin, the tireless and active hustler in personal charges, assures us that all his contracts for material and supplies are now made with the leading manufacturers in the South, East and West.

The big Corlies engine will be finished and shipped within the next two weeks, by which time William Bros. will have the boilers enclosed as per their contract. In the meantime the Wood Electrical Machinery will be finished and shipped from Fort Wayne, Ind., as also the fine new cedar poles, wires, etc., will be here from Chicago, so that the new electric plant will be tested and turned over within the next thirty days, and this accomplished, the old plant will be shipped away and work will then begin in earnest on the fine new system of water works, which Mr. Martin says when completed shall be second to none of his numerous plants in the several States where he has been constructing for 25 years. The best evidence of which statement is borne out by the fact that yet in the prime of life he has decided to make this a monument and settle down here with it and his family to live, and watch over the crowning effort of his life in the line of his chosen vocation.

So it would seem after all that a long suffering and patient public are to be awarded with good steady light and clear sparkling water, both of which are much needed and will be liberally patronized, not only as a luxury, but absolutely necessary as well. No more factories will have to locate elsewhere in order to get a water supply, nor will those we now have be compelled to shut down or haul water after the next three months.

The services at the First Presbyterian church, both morning and evening were well attended—quite a large congregation being present in the evening. The pastor, Rev. A. J. Arick, preached on both occasions on the subject of the Resurrection. His sermons were highly commended. The extra attraction at night was a solo written by Mr. Arick and sung by Miss Ayers. She also sang a most artistic production of Brahmsen. Mr. Neville played two very attractive numbers, and the opening piece by the Orchestra, a Tyrolean air, was exquisitely rendered.

In this issue is an advertisement of William Bros. The men composing this firm were raised among the people with whom they are doing business and their success serves a fitting illustration as to merit. A few years ago they started out in business poor boys. Nothing has been given them. Hard work, close application, honest dealings, good work and economy have brought them to where they are now. They make their living off of our people and their necessities are distributed among them. They are the kind of a firm to be patronized for this reason and besides their work meets with favorable comment everywhere. Especially they invite the people's attention to their stock of hardware and pumps and also to their superior facilities for putting on all kinds of metal and slate roofs. They are also contractors and builders and Mr. Ed Williams has the advantage of being a very fine architect.

Next year will be the last leap year of the century, and another will not occur until 1991. The year 1999 will not be a leap year. The unusual occurrence is due to the fact that the addition of one day to each fourth year more than makes up the presumed deficiency in the calendar year, and consequently the world is constantly losing time, as a watch loses it, and therefore, there is danger that in the course of a few thousand years the Fourth of July will come on Christmas.

Practical advantage has already been taken by the British postal authorities of the new method of telegraphy without wires. The cable from Scotland to the Isle of Mull was broken for a week, and during that time the inhabitants remained in electrical communication with the mainland by means of an induction apparatus. The distance from the mainland is two miles. There were already wires along the island coast, a parallel wire was erected on the coast mainland, and the messages sent over it were read by a telephone connection with the wire on the island, and vice versa.

That our opinion of the color of an object is formed by our perceiving that certain constituents are absent in it, is the conclusion reached by Herr Wieg in a paper before the Berlin Physical Society. Experimenting with oil lamps provided with pure red, green and blue screens, he found that when white light was rightly colored the observers lost all sense of color, and could distinguish only shades of black and white in objects in the room. A scale of colors illuminated by red light showed the reds as white or gray, when blue light was added the reds became yellow and could not be distinguished from the yellow on the walls.

NEWS OF LENZ.

The Editor of Outing Says the Cyclist is a Captive.

Dr. J. H. Worman, editor of Outing, has received a cable dispatch that Bicyclist Frank G. Lenz had been traced to a Kurd village about eight miles from Erzerum. He reached there May 10, 1894, and the villagers say he was murdered. Lenz arrived at Chigian, a little after sundown, on May 9. He was the guest of a man named Aya Bysrah, and was in good health and spirits. In the evening a number of villagers called on him and his wonderful machine. He left early the next morning. About a month later the villagers heard that he had been killed in the vicinity of a village named Kurdali, one of three villages Lenz would have to pass in crossing the mountains to the Dellbaba pass. These Armenian villages are now in ruins. The Turkish soldiers massacred the Armenians just about the time Lenz was in the vicinity. Dr. Worman does not believe that Lenz was murdered. "I think Lenz was carried away by the Kurds into captivity and they are waiting for him to be ransomed."

Burglary as a Science.

The chief tools of the burglar are the "jimmy," nippers and "drag." In addition to this there will be a series of drills, punches, wedges and a brace and bits. The drills and bits will be of all sizes, ranging from those almost as small as a needle, up to powerful ones an inch or two thick. A complete assortment of these tools is hard to get, and when the kit is made complete it is highly prized by the owner. They are taken to a blacksmith separately, and tempered to an extreme hardness. No one would suspect the purpose for which they are designed. Other forgers make the nippers and "jimmies." The latter is a steel bar of great strength and ductility, but is divided into sections, so that it can be unweaved and carried with greater convenience. The nippers resemble a pair of curling tongs, with sharp little teeth for catching hold of keys that are in the locks inside the house. By means of the nippers the key is not only shoved inside, but it is actually used to unlock the door before being removed. The custom of leaving the key in the lock as a precaution against burglars, who are reported to carry false keys with them, is really one of great help to professional robbers instead of a hindrance.

The "drag" is the most powerful little instrument that the professional burglar carries, and its construction is a marvel of simplicity, ingenuity and strength. By means of it the most powerful safes are opened within a few minutes, and without so much noise as to attract the attention of policemen outside of the building. This instrument is being improved as safe-makers endeavor to make receptacles for valuables more trustworthy and difficult to break open. So far, the burglars have kept pace with the safe-makers, and with every improvement made by the latter the former are sure to circumvent it in some way. —Horne and Country.

The Bobby's Surprise.

The big Reserve policeman who stands at Front and Chestnut had his attention drawn last evening to a man who was lying asleep on some barrels on Front street, just below Chestnut. The genial officer gave a few raps with his club on the soles of the man's feet, but evoked no response. Somewhat surprised, he repeated the dose, and the man gave signs of returning to consciousness. He looked lazily about at the crowd, stretched himself, and then rose slowly to his feet. Apparently still half asleep, he gave a yawn, and then suddenly shot out at his right hand and caught the surprised policeman on the nose. The blood flew, the crowd laughed, and the policeman took revenge by administering with his club a sound beating before ringing for a patrol wagon.

The true gospel expounded.
Bridget hits her head against the stove and cries out with pain. She applies Dr. Fessner's Golden Relief and the pain is gone.
Johnny awoke in the night screaming for the pain in stomach the cherries had brought on. A teaspoonful of the Relief is given. Immediately Johnny is drawing.

The sick mother, just returned from her Southern trip, is no better. The "hectic flush" is still on her cheek and from hangs over the family circle. The Golden Relief is used a month, and a cure results. The explanation is: Golden Relief cures inflammation. No inflammation, no sore from burn, no hurt from chafe, no constipation. Contains no opium, no cocaine or mineral poisons. Safe and certain. One tablespoonful every four hours. It never does harm or disappoints. Money refunded if satisfaction not given. The weekly reviews of trade by the commercial agencies show that the improvement of general business reported during the past month is maintained, in spite of the actual or threatened trouble over wages. During the week about twelve thousand workers have been thrown out of employment by strikes. Retail trade, on the whole, is improved, though still behind the purchases of jobbers. Prices of commodities, for the first time in a long while, are higher than last year and cotton is buoyant.
